SDo8 Epernay, Reims and vineyards

6-day & 5-night tour

Itinerary

Day 1 - Arrival at Epernay.

Your first day you find yourself in Epernay, at the heart of the most prestigious vineyard in the world. In every direction sprawls 20 000 hectares of vines, and underfoot, more than 200 million bottles lie aging in 110 kilometers of wine cellars carved out into the chalky earth. May the festivities begin!

Visit of Epernay and the champagne cellars. Since its establishment in the 5th century, the city of Epernay was destroyed several times, pillaged and burned more than 25 times throughout several wars. It was also bombarded and heavily damaged during the two World Wars. Nevertheless, Epernay has conserved some of its vestiges of the past: Portail St Martin, the facade of the Maison Louise de Savoie and several very beautiful private mansions from the 19th century. But above all, Epernay is the majestic Avenue de Champagne, a neighborhood of grand homes and of the production and negotiation of champagne. This avenue is lined with innumerable 19th-century buildings done in the opulence of the Renaissance and Classical styles. You will have the opportunity to visit some of these cellars where the champagne matures in underground galleries. Lodging and breakfast in Epernay

Day 2 - Cote des Blancs and the Coteaux du Sud d'Epernay.

This circuit will take you through the charming winemaking villages of the Côte des Blancs, so called because of the white (Chardonnay) grapevines planted here. You will leave Epernay, bypassing the Mont Bernon via Chouilly. This will take you to villages well known to Champagne lovers, Cuis, Cramant, Avize, Oger, le Mesnil sur Oger, Vertus and Bergères les Vertus, most of which boast magnificent churches dating from the 12th and 13th centuries, like the one in Vertus that is built on stilts above a spring. Once past Bergère les Vertus, you will climb up Mont Aimé, steeped in history – and tragedy. It was here that the Blanche de Navarre fortress rose up, of which only a few ruins remain, and where 183 Cathars (heretics in the eyes of the Catholic Church) were burnt on 12th May 1329. It was also the site of the incredible Holy Alliance display of military might (more than 500,000 men), staged by the Russian Tsar Alexander 1st, after the 1815 defeat of Napoleon and the French troops. Then you will climb back up towards Gionges and Grauves where the church houses a beautiful statue of the Blessed Virgin carved in a grape press screw, which leads the inhabitants to say, “The Grauves Virgin has performed more turns than miracles”.

From Grauves, you will discover the Coteaux Sud d'Épernay, the hills south of Épernay, and slowly make your way back to Épernay, crossing at least 10 villages, each more picturesque than the last: Moslins and the ruins of a Cistercian abbey, Chavot-Courcourt with its magnificent 13th century chapel built on a hillock surrounded by vines, the châteaux of Brugny Vaudancourt and Brugny. During this fun walk, you will stop at a few local producers to discover – and enjoy – all the finesse, elegance and subtlety of the Côte des Blancs champagnes. Finally, we have suggestions for a few small walking routes for you to discover the vineyards... Lodging and breakfast in Épernay

Day 3 - The Marne Valley, from Épernay to Dormans.

This circuit will take you around the favoured soils of Pinot Meunier, the grape variety that gives Champagne its fruity bouquet. The vines stretch as far as the eye can see towards Paris, on each side of the river on terraced hillsides, where villages, châteaux and churches cling to the sides. From Épernay, you will reach Hautvillers, the cradle of Champagne. This village is typical of the Champagne region, the houses bear handsome labels, then there is the abbey where Dom Perignon, the famous monk who improved the Champagne making processes, lived. You will walk along the Marne, crossing charming little villages such as Cumières, Damery, Fleury la Rivière, Villiers sous Châtillon, Reuil and discovering grandiose landscapes from the hilltops. You will reach the village of Chatillon sur Marne, birthplace of Pope Urban II and, at the foot of his immense statue that looks out over the vineyards; you will be able to see the entire valley. Then, you will continue walking through the villages of Vaudières (Gallo-Roman site), and Verneuil with its Medieval church, to reach Dormans, a small town that still bears the scars of fighting during the 1914-1918 war. You will then come back into Épernay via the valley's other side. You will pass through lovely, welcoming villages: Troissy and the old 'Amour Dieu' (Love of God) Cistercian abbey, Mareuil le Port, Leuvigny, Festigny, Chêne la Reine that owes its name to Blanche of Castille (who supposedly lost her comb at the foot of an oak tree...). The numerous rest stops will provide chances to visit a few wine cellars and meet the producers. Lodging and breakfast in Épernay

Day 4 - La Montagne de Reims.

Vines cover every slope of the Reims Mountain, while the summit is covered with forests and grazing pastures. You will leave Épernay via Dizy Champillon, pausing at the lookout to admire for one last time Épernay, the Marne Valley and Côte des Blancs that stretches away to the horizon. You will reach Ay that was once sheltered by thick ramparts. Numerous French and foreign sovereigns owned wine domains and presses here. The undulating route will lead you to Bouzy, famous for its red wine, then to Ambonnay where you will discover its press that is more than 100 years old, its majestic fountain and the St Réol church. Taking small lanes, between plains and vines you will reach the Verzy forest with its famous 'Faux' the old French name for the twisted beeches crowned by umbrella-shaped branches. Little is known about their origin. Then it is on to Verzenay, an unusual village nestled in the base of a small valley, bordered on one side by a windmill and on the other by a lighthouse, built by a winemaker as a publicity ploy and that has now become a museum focusing on vineyards. You will discover the "Grande Montagne" (Great Mountain), kingdom of Pinot Noir with its well-to-do villages. Chigny les Roses in particular bears the traces of Madame Pommery and her rose garden. This flower that grows abundantly in the vineyards is a warning sign for diseases that threaten the vines. This walk ends in the heart of the "Petite Montagne" (Little Mountain), which will astound you with the diversity of its churches, such as Sacy with its long, elegant spire or Chamery with its onion bell tower. You will climb up to the St Lié Chapel on the top of a hillock from which you can see the whole region, the vineyards and the town of Reims that you will reach via a few small villages. Lodging and breakfast in Reims

Day 5 - Visit Reims.

A town that will be forever remembered for its Champagne and its rich past, which can be seen in its varied and prestigious architectural heritage. For example the Notre Dame Cathedral, without question a Gothic work of art, or the St Rémi Basilica where Clovis, first king of the Franks, was baptised in 501, or the Palais de Tau, or even the Reims Abbey-Museum. The town has several museums, town houses and beautiful, grand squares that you can discover during your walk. Reims is also Champagne. The wine cellars and big name labels are to be found around the Champs de Mars area and on the chalky slopes of the Butte St Nicaise, riddled with galleries often hollowed out by the Romans to extract stone. More than 250 kilometres of galleries house hundreds of millions of bottles from the famous Mumm, Ruinart, Pommery, Veuve Cliquot-Ponsardin Champagne houses... Cellar visits and tasting sessions will bring this day to a joyous close! Lodging and breakfast in Reims

Day 6 - Reims.

Tour ends after breakfast. We recommend leaving Reims towards the start of the afternoon, after having visited a museum or ... a couple champagne cellars throughout the morning.
