

C261-ST Loire valley

from Orléans to Blois

The Loire River is a Queen loved by Kings

The Loire Valley has seen many of France's kings pass through its territories. Listed by UNESCO as a World Heritage site, it is one of the rare places in the world where one finds magnificent chateaux, mansions, churches and abbeys in such quantity, giving testimony to an intense and rich spiritual and cultural life, as well as an art de vivre that has continued throughout the centuries.

Just before Briare, the Loire stretches itself away from the last foothills of the Massif Central. The valley expands and the hills flatten. You have found yourself in the Loire Valley. The first royal residences rise before you : the Chateau de la Bussiere, with its magnificent garden; Gien and its chateau, now transformed into a hunting museum and famous for its earthenware ; the medieval fortress of Sully; Saint Benoît Abbey and Germigny-des-Prés church, one of the oldest churches in France. Here also lies Orleans, the city chosen by the Capetians, the first kings of France, as the capitol of their kingdom.

You will visit the half-medieval- half-renaissance-style chateau, the collegiate church, the ancient ramparts and the mills in the centre of the old city. Wandering through the old neighborhoods, you will discover the history of the town, the keep, the house of the Templars, Notre-Dame Abbey, the Hotel-Dieu, and the old bridge. In the start of the afternoon, a taxi will bring you from Beaugency to Chambord, where you will visit the chateau and the residence, both of which were of great importance during the Renaissance in France. The chateau is the incarnation of the royal power of François I and Louis XIV. Transfer by taxi to Bracieux Lodging and breakfast in a 2-star hotel in the village of Bracieux

Day 4 - CHEVERNY – CELLETES (15 km). *Transfer by taxi to the chateau of Cheverny, one of the best-known, which represents a unique uniformity of style. After visiting the chateau and the park, you will move on to the chateau of Troussay, a manor house dating to the Renaissance, which today houses a museum on the Sologne. You will continue your hike to the chateau of Beauregard, once a property of François I. *to wander along the banks of the Loire. A taxi will take you from Chaumont sur Loire to Fougères sur Bievre, where you will visit the 15th century fortified castle. It's an odd one out in this area.
